It's a fun, all-volunteer club for the entire family, with annual dues (Jan1-Dec 31) set at just $20.00.

WHAT, NO TROPHIES?

Each year when I promote the “Show & Shine Under the Oaks” classic car show at my church, I post the event with a couple of local classic car magazines and a popular car show website. I usually get several phone calls from people who want more information than the flyers or the brief magazine write-ups contain. Sometimes the query is for directions, sometimes for vendor opportunities, but most people just want a more detailed description of the event.

A few years ago I got a call from a guy who told me that he had just purchased a 1930s street rod that had been built by a professional shop. He went on to describe the car in detail, and it sounded like a really nice high-dollar car. Then he asked me about the show, and I described the format: no entry fee, dash plaques, door prizes and no judging. He asked, “How do you do trophies? Is it a top 30 show or what?”

I was a little surprised by the question, but I assumed he was new to the hobby. The description of a free show with no judging would not normally include awarding 30 trophies. I explained that ours was a free show, and that judged shows with trophies invariably have an entry fee to cover the cost. We just do one award, a “People’s Choice” award, and that car is depicted on the dash plaque the following year. Our goal was to eliminate the competition aspect and make it more like a family reunion. We draw at least 75 cars each year with lots of repeat entries. People have a great time at our show.

“Well, I don’t go to any shows that don’t give out trophies,” came the response.

“If you change your mind, I’d love to see your car there,” I replied. “I guarantee you’ll have fun.”

That Saturday, we were blessed with beautiful weather, a record crowd and an amazing car show.

I couldn’t stop thinking about the guy who missed that great day, because there was no chance for a plastic trophy. I wondered if that beautiful car was just sitting in his garage all day, and what was the reason for buying it in the first place?

Please understand that I love all kinds of classic car shows, from small weekly cruise-ins to major events with huge swap meets or a Concours D’Elegance. And I will admit that when I first got into the hobby, I enjoyed winning a trophy now and then. However, the day came when my trophy shelf was full, and suddenly I didn’t want any more of them. I finally figured out that it is not just the cars, but the car people that make the hobby special. I noticed it several years ago, when my photos from car shows began to include fewer cars and more people.

I have also noticed that when we lose a car friend, it is much more painful than parting with a car. I have noticed that most of my very best friends, my life-long friends, have been car buddies. I can also recall that for most of my life, I have belonged to one car club or another. I truly enjoy the camaraderie. I just can’t picture the car hobby without the car community. Someday, that guy on the phone will come to the same conclusion.

There is a quote from Olympic star Jesse Owens that sums it up. “Awards become corroded. Friends gather no dust.” See you on the tours, and at the car shows. I don’t need a trophy.

BERTHA BENZ... CAR THIEF?

Recently, our Navy son, Jeremy visited from Virginia, and Sherri and I took him through the Collection on Palmetto antique car museum in Clearwater. This museum has a fabulous collection of cars with a concentration of Brass Era (1915 and older) vehicles. It also includes a display of gas and steam powered industrial machines, as well as a miniature railroad that circles the property. We had a great time, and Jeremy thoroughly enjoyed the museum, but the focus of this article is an item that Sherri purchased from the gift shop.

Sherri picked up a tee shirt with a graphic that showed the original Carl Benz three-wheeler with a tribute to Carl's wife Bertha Benz as the world's first car thief. This shirt commemorates one of our favorite stories of the pioneer days of the automobile. The museum has a great replica of the original Benz vehicle, built in Germany in 1885, and recognized as the first gasoline-powered, self-propelled vehicle and often touted as the first automobile. While there were self-propelled steam powered wagons dating back to 1769, they were invariably designed to haul freight, while the Benz car was designed to transport people. Hence, the first automobile.

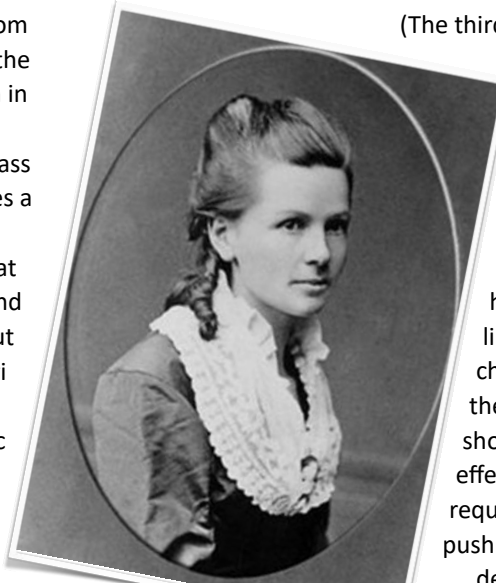

Bertha's story is indeed a unique one, in that Bertha was a multi-talented person, who took an active part in her husband's business, as well as assisting in the invention itself. She is the first lady to ever drive an automobile, the first person to make a long-distance trip in one and the first person to "steal" one.

As the story goes, on August 5th, 1888, Bertha at age 39 wanted to visit her mother, who lived about 66 miles away. Being a business partner in Carl's company, she also wanted to prove that one of their cars was capable of making a long trip. Along with sons Richard (13) and Eugen (15) she took Benz Motor Wagen No. 3

(The third car produced), and they began the trip at dawn without telling Carl or getting the necessary permission from the authorities to operate a motor car. She followed wagon trails and purchased ligroin (petroleum spirits used in dry cleaning) fuel from pharmacies along the way. When the car stalled, she used her mechanical skills to open a blocked fuel line with her hairpin. She got a broken drive chain repaired by a blacksmith, and when the wooden brakes failed, she sought out a shoemaker to line them with leather, effectively inventing brake lining. Steep hills required the assistance of the two boys to push the car by hand. They arrived at the destination that evening and telegraphed Carl with the news. Upon returning a few days later the couple incorporated some improvements in their cars, by adding a lower gear to climb hills and improving the brakes with leather lining. Bertha had proved that automobiles had a future in long trips, and she made improvements in the Benz car from her experience. She also demonstrated her own mechanical skills if not her determination, and the trip produced a lot of publicity.

The Benz Motor Wagen is the ancestor to the Mercedes Benz automobiles of today, making that company the oldest and longest running automobile business in the world. Like many of the early car builders, Carl was a brilliant inventor, who likely lacked a strong marketing background. Arguably, Carl's automobile business may not have survived without the ambition, foresight and talent of his wife Bertha. Her gutsy 66-mile road trip back in 1888 was both courageous and forward thinking.

See you on the road.

Facts, Thoughts, and Memories

FROM THE DESK OF
PAUL DOBBINS

Hello Everyone,

Here is a little factoid for the docents working at the H.C. Smith General Store and Garage.

Ever notice all the variety of headlight lenses on display in the garage?

Many early makes and models, some of which I can identify, some I can't. Ever look at them and wonder what kind of car the purple one came from? I did and would occasionally see a car with that purple tint and wonder if it was a stock lens or not. Then I saw a 1916 Simplex with those vertically fluted purple lenses and realized was a stock lens and wondered why it was purple.

So here is what I discovered. The element manganese found within glass will remain colorless as long as it does not oxidize to form manganese oxide. However, radiation from the sun will cause manganese to oxidize. Glass exposed to sunlight for a long period of time will turn purple if it contains manganese. However, glass that contains manganese that is not exposed to sunlight, UV light or other forms of radiation will retain its clear appearance.

Now you know and can dazzle guests in the garage with your incredible automotive knowledge.

Here is a link explaining the science.

NEWS GOSSIP

By Aunt Blabber & Adeline Moore

Gareth and I, Debra, will be taking our '31 Cabriolet to Brando Pistorius and Old Wheel Restoration this week for a much needed new look. Can't wait to have the yellow car back on tours. Also we will be taking the 1911 Model T to the North Florida T & A (Model T and A) Tour in Moultrie, GA, February 26th through March 4th tour.. We will be the oldest car there from what we were told. Let the Eich's touring season begin!

We are enjoying life here on the good Ship Lollypop( never leaves the pier, no casino, no midnight buffet). No home ownership worries. Lots of activities, I'm in two plays, some vaudeville acts for old people and decent food service. All in all pretty good time of life, but no old car. I enjoy photos and the doings of Pin-Mar. Best regards to all. Jim & Mary Ellen Bader

Terry & Arlene Mather report: Almost halfway through our 111 day cruise around the world on Island Princess! Always our highlight is the Sydney opera house!!

News from the Smith Ranch: We finished the new garage. Can't decide how to shuffle the vehicles and what to put in it. The '22 transmission problem is working itself out. Seems the clutches have/had gunk on them and a little mystery oil is helping to clean it off. I've been starting it and running it a few minutes several times a day for the last week and the problem has diminished. (original problem: clutches wouldn't disengage until it warmed up).

Back in Panama for a week sans Cecelia for another expansion on the production capabilities and one of the best sandwiches I've ever eaten in my life. They start with a sweet corn pancake, add pulled pork in a sweet citrus juice then cheese, black beans before toping it off with sweet plantains. Once its done they fold it over and add more cheese. When I get back we will be hosting a tour up our neck of the woods and hope to see you all then. John & Cecelia

Anita & Wilbur Douglas keep on working and working and working.

Well, your northern PIN-MAR charter member is currently buckled down for the winter Model A - wise. Most of the Minuteman Club members have their cars garaged on jacks. We are still mourning the loss of Art Callan. As you know, he was quite involved in both clubs and MAFFI. Jude and I haven't been just sitting around doing nothing. We completed a 71 day cruise around Africa December 20, 2022 and I am writing this note in while vacationing in Aruba. So we're taking a bite out of our winter.

Ahoo-gah Tony Zeoli (Tony is a charter member from Pin-MAR in 1964. He & Jude moved north eons ago)

Very sad to learn of Art Callan's passing back on December 19, 2022. Tony's report led me to search and it sadly, was true. Art was one of our winter members and a Model A guy through and through. Art was also heavily involved with the planning, fundraising, and construction of the MAFFI Model A Museum at the Gilmore complex in Hickory Corners, MI. Art was a past Executive Chairman of MAFFI. Our condolences go out to Patricia.

Jason Roberson brought his kit car to an SCCA autocross two weekends ago at the Orange County Convention Center in Orlando. Took second in class!

A big shoutout to Jerry Workman for making up laminated service cards for the two Model T's and the Model A in the Village garage. Each vehicle will have them in the front window.

Since we're talking about the store, a BIG THANKS goes out to everyone working at the H.C. Smith General Store and Garage recently. Here are a few names that come to mind; Deb, Arline, Ron, Judy, Bob, Emmett, Lon, and everyone else I should have mentioned. Thanks for your dedication and help while the construction of the pathways has been going on recently.

In an upcoming issue, we'll be spotlighting those who dedicate their time and heart to make sure the H.C. Smith General Store and Garage doors are open for visitors to experience.

Exciting news from our friends at the Gasparilla Concours d'Elegance as they have initiated a new partnership with the Festivals of Speed organization. The combined event will be held along the St. Petersburg waterfront in Vinoy Park in January of 2024. Stay tuned for more information about the event.

You may notice that the "More Cool & Vital Information" about the Lorrier/Siegle Trophy page isn't in this month's newsletter. Why you may ask. Well its because Bob Croslin has been busy reassembling his 1956 Thunderbird after having the transmission rebuilt and rebuilding the steering himself. As we all know it comes apart much easier than it goes back together. Hopefully you he won't have any leftover pieces.

Great seeing so many members from our club participating in the 21st Annual St. Petersburg Motor Classic in South Straub Park on the lawn in front of the St. Petersburg Yacht Club. The weather couldn't have been better and a great time was had by all. We once again had a designated area under the trees on along Beach Drive. The PIN-MAR banner was up and we even had a winner from the club. Congratulations Frank Quinlin.

Notes from the President

by Paul Dobbin

One of the great benefits of PIN-MAR membership is the association with people we might otherwise never know. Example being the "work party" in the Heritage Village Garage on March 21. At least 15 members turned out and spent the day fixing, wiring, building, painting, cleaning, driving, sorting, and enjoying each others company while improving our hobby exhibit for public enjoyment. I think we all had a good time and got a lot done in the process. Check it out during the Picnic, April 11.
